

A beautiful sunset dinner at the Sunset Beach Bistro was the choice for these romantic couples!

Valentine's Day is a special day that demands a special finish, and for many couples the choice was their own cozy little corner of the beach at the Sunset Beach Bistro in the Divi Phoenix Resort at Palm Beach. An unfettered horizon, with the occasional sailboat drifting by was perfect way for repeat Aruba visitors Linda and Karl Piff of Jackson, N.J. to celebrate not only the holiday but also the pleasure of not having to withstand the harsh February weather back home.

For island residents Carolina and Luis Geerman, it was not only a romantic dinner but also a sixth anniversary celebration, as they were married on February 14th, a popular date for proposals and weddings.

Married only a few months ago, Jim and Linda Shaughnessy of new Hampshire found Aruba and the Sunset Beach Bistro made their first Valentine's day together super special, declaring not only their love for each other, but also Aruba.

Mike Lembo, a regular visitor to Aruba, introduced his ladylove Joanne to the island for the first time with this visit, and surprised her on this special day with a beautiful bouquet of roses and a gorgeous heart necklace, to which she declared, "He is definitely a keeper!"

All of this was no surprise to Donna and Paul Devine of Boston, who have been celebrating Valentine's Day in Aruba for the last twelve years, and "absolutely love" the Sunset Beach Bistro for the perfect romantic dinner!
